Background

Council Policy Investment of Funds was adopted by Council on 29 June 2010 (refer decision 121/10).

At the Policy Review and Development Committee Meeting on 18 June 2015, the Committee queried whether the Policy was necessary and requested the item be deferred to its next meeting to enable further investigation by officers.

The Committee was of the opinion that as Council is required to comply with the statutory requirements in relation to the investment of funds as outlined in Section 6.14 of the Local Government Act 1995, the Local Government (Financial Management) Regulations 1996 Regulation 19, and Part III of the Trustees Act 1962; the Policy was essentially replicating the investment parameters contained within this legislation. 10.3.1 Review of Digital Screen at the City Library

Applicant/Proponent:	Internal
Author:	Julian Bowron, Manager Community Arts and Culture
Executive:	Stephanie Addison-Brown, Director Corporate and Community Services
Attachments:	Nil.

Summary

The purpose of this report is for Council to be informed about the capacity of the projection equipment currently located at the front of the Bunbury library and options for future digital screen requirements in response to Council Decision 114/15.

Recommendation

That Council acknowledge the limitations of the current City Library digital screen and associated equipment and note the estimated cost of replacement with a high performance LED screen when making provision for future digital screen needs.

Background

Following the opening of the new City of Bunbury Library building in 2009, a digital art installation was commissioned from Vue Group to be screened at the front of the building. A rear projection screen was suspended from the building and a high powered data projector located inside the City Library.

The working life of the digital art work was patchy because of technical issues such as projector lamp failure and the need to clean the screen regularly. The agreement with Vue Group came to an end in 2013.

In the lead up to this year's Anzac Day ceremonies Councillor Cook requested that a program of images supplied by the Bunbury RSL should be projected onto the screen. The images were screened but the exercise raised a number of limitations of the system including the fact the images were of poor quality, only visible at night and could only be displayed for a limited time to prevent the lamp from overheating. This exercise also highlighted the fact the projector is now out of date, unreliable and at the end of its useful life.

Council Policy Compliance

There is no Council policy relating to this report.

Legislative Compliance

Not applicable

Officer Comments

At present the library projector and screen can still be operated but with the limitations as outlined below.

Operating costs: From 2011 the City had an annual service agreement with Vue Group costing $1,690 plus projector lamps (lamps currently cost $1,356 each) and call out fees. If the screen is to be in regular use there will be regular maintenance costs. These will increase in time as other parts of the projector will fail due to age.

Manual operation: There is no automated control system in place so the projector must be switched on and off manually, requiring after hours staff attendance. For the Anzac images to be displayed, a staff member was required to attend the Library at 10pm every night throughout the second half of April to switch the projector off manually to prevent the lamp from overheating. This is a costly and inconvenient exercise.

Limited hours of operation: The current screen image is not visible during daylight hours which significantly limits viewing potential.

Visibility: Since the original installation the oleander trees behind the war memorial have grown up and the screen is no longer visible from Victoria Street as was originally intended. The screen can only be seen from the area of Anzac Park between the Oleander trees and the Library and only in darkness.

Format: The screen was designed by Vue Group to a custom square format to suit their artwork (most film and photographic images are rectangular) so it is unsuitable for general purpose display. In addition, the projector is not directly behind the screen and it is very difficult to perfectly align the image with the screen because of the acute projection angle.

Since the library screen and projector were installed there have been considerable advances in daylight-visible LED screen technology. These are now in use as electronic billboards, fixed and mobile message boards and event screens.

A high resolution daylight visible LED screen could be connected to the City of Bunbury IT network and controlled remotely from an appropriate computer terminal. This would require a complete new rectangular screen unit to be mounted on the library and connected to power and control systems. There may also be more advantageous locations for such a screen to be mounted or consideration given to a mobile screen which can be moved to where it will be best viewed depending on the occasion.

Analysis of Financial and Budget Implications

There is currently no budget provision for purchase, operation, maintenance or program development for outdoor screens.

The estimated cost of an appropriate high quality LED screens is as follows:

Full colour, daylight visible 3m x 2.6m P8 Display $65,000 installed.
