Fun for the whole family as GrandFamilies Fun Day returns

Grandparents, parents, uncles, aunties, brothers, sisters and carers are all invited to the City of Bunbury's annual GrandFamilies Fun Day on Wednesday 17 April at the Bunbury Wildlife Park.

The event celebrates the special bond between grandparents and their grandchildren however the whole community is welcome to attend.

There will be plenty of family-friendly entertainment and activities on offer as well as an array of community stalls.

This year will see Hey Presto entertain event goers with his interactive magic show whilst Pirate Man Michael will deliver an adventure story combining juggling, circus, puppetry and mime.

Pony rides, train rides, rock climbing, photo booth and face painting will be some of the fun activities taking place as well as more entertainment from the Bunbury City Band, Zumba demonstrations and roving characters.

Attendees can bring a picnic to eat on the lush green lawn or purchase food from the Wildside Café.

Entry to the event is just $3 with children under three free – please note entrance fees are cash only.

All of the frivolity kicks off at 9am until 2pm.
